

Passing the time, telling the time....

An active study day exploring the theme of time in the Tudor period focusing on Chichester
Cathedral and the warship Mary Rose

Wednesday 22 February 2012

George Bell House, Canon Lane, Chichester

Programme

10:00	Welcome
10:05 -10.20	How did the men of the Mary Rose tell the time on board ship?
10.25 – 10.55	Explore parts of the Cathedral with the Clerk of Works for evidence about how time was told during Tudor times.
11:00 – 11.15	Coffee in George Bell House
11.20 – 12.05	Passing the time off duty on the Mary Rose : illustrated talk on pastimes on the ship including evidence for religious practice.
12:10 – 12.40	Replica artefact handling session focusing on pastimes on the Mary Rose .
12.45 – 13.45	Lunch break in George Bell House (light lunch included)
13.45 – 14.10	The Chancellor on the importance of pilgrimage in Tudor life
14.10 – 14.40	Marks in time.... a walk exploring graffiti on the pilgrim route at Chichester Cathedral and a chance to look at the Three Men's Morris boards and perhaps play a game!
14.45 – 15.10	When time ran out: conflicting theories about the sinking of the Mary Rose .
15.10 – 15.35	The Chancellor considers what happened when time ran out for the Shrine...
15:40 – 16.00	Opportunity to ask questions of the speakers over tea and biscuits

£35 per person (£32 George Bell House Associates) to include lunch, tea, coffee and biscuits.

Tickets are available from Chichester Tickets online at www.chichestertickets.co.uk or from the Box Office in the Cathedral Shop (01243 813595).

A collaboration between the Chichester Cathedral and Mary Rose Education Departments