

LEARN & DO

Light at Advent & Christmas

This Advent and Christmas, Chichester Cathedral is exploring the theme of 'light'.

As part of these celebrations, the Cathedral is displaying a special artwork inside the 600 year-old Cloisters.

Field of Blooms is an artwork by Bruce Munro. It is made up of 1,000 stems of light which change colour.

LEARN

The word Advent comes from the Latin word adventus which means "arrival" or "coming". Advent is a time of joy, as we await the birth of Jesus Christ.

Advent and Christmas take place during the darkest time of year – so light is very important. For example, a lit candle represents Jesus being the light in the world.

DO (PART I)

This Advent and Christmas, you may want to think about who is important to you. Who are the lights in your world?

The person who is important to me is:.....

This is because:.....

.....

DO (PART II)

Below is an outline of Field of Blooms. Decorate the stems of light using whatever materials you like. Share your creations with us on social media (#ChichesterCathedral)!

